James Farrer. Notice of Runic Inscriptions discovered during recent excavations in the Orkneys. Printed for private circulation, 1862. 1st Edition. An extremely scarce original copy of James Farrer's account of his work on the excavation of Maes-Howe in Stenness, Orkney, together with a few other barrows. James Farrer (1812-1879) was MP for Durham and an enthusiastic member of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland. He 'opened' the mound in July 1861, at which time it had a conical shape, and removed the contents. Sadly, and typically of the time, there was no systematic analysis and recording. Farrer discovered a number of runic inscriptions inside the tomb and this work has images of them with translations. The binding has a gilt design (copied from the runic inscriptions in the Howe) to the front board and gilt titles to spine. Contents: colour printed frontispiece with tissue-guard; title page; contents list; preface; text with 5 plates - 2 double size and one colour printed; appendix; readings of the inscriptions with 7 further plates - 2 double size. The binding is clean with some dulling of the gilt to front board and spine. Some gilt is missing from the border to the front board. There are some paler areas on the back board. Corners have wear and there is wear to spine ends with some fraying and slight loss. There is a marked area on the front pastedown endpaper where it looks like a bookplate has been removed. Contents are clean but with toning to paper and foxing. There is offsetting from some plates to the opposing pages. We have found this on other copies so it is likely to be due to the quality of paper used. There is some repair to the front endpaper joint. Fair. Decorative cloth. (4757) £420.00

James Fergusson. A Short Essay on the Age and Uses of the Brochs and the Rude Stone Monuments of the Orkney Islands and the North of Scotland. London: William Mullan and Son, 1877. 1st Edition. A fair copy in the original binding. The binding has some staining to the front board and general wear. Internally both endpapers are split at the joint, although the book is currently sound in the binding. There is a stain to the foredge but the contents are generally clean. Fair. Decorative cloth. (1679) £40.00

James Fergusson. A Short Essay on the Age and Uses of the Brochs and the Rude Stone Monuments of the Orkney Islands and the North of Scotland. London: William Mullan and Son, 1877. 1st Edition. Clean copy in original decorative cloth binding. The binding is bright with gilt titles and black decoration to the front board. Spine is dulled. Wear to corners with some cloth loss, and some wear to spine ends. Original black endpapers. Old ownership signature at the top of the title page. Contents very clean - small scholarly pencil annotation. Slightly shaken with backing to the stitching visible at a couple of points. Good +. Decorative cloth. (5497) £90.00
