Earl of Selkirk. Observations on the present state of the Highlands of Scotland, with a view on the causes and probable consequences of emigration. London and Edinburgh: Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme; Constable and Co, 1805. 1st Edition. First edition copy rebound in modern buckram cloth and quarter leather spine with gilt titles. The binder has chosen to leave the pages untrimmed as they would have been when issued by the publisher. This is an important work from the era of the Highland Clearances. The Earl of Selkirk encouraged and supported emigration of dispossessed Highlanders to Canada and this book gives an account of the situation in the Highlands and the settlement he founded in Canada. It went through turbulent times and barely survived. Selkirk was ruined in the process. This copy lacks the errata slip but is otherwise complete. There is a lot of brown spotting, mostly to the untrimmed page edges. Fair. Quarter leather. (1879) £80.00

James Farrer. Notice of Runic Inscriptions discovered during recent excavations in the Orkneys. Printed for private circulation, 1862. 1st Edition. An extremely scarce original copy of James Farrer's account of his work on the excavation of Maes-Howe in Stenness, Orkney, together with a few other barrows. James Farrer (1812-1879) was MP for Durham and an enthusiastic member of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland. He 'opened' the mound in July 1861, at which time it had a conical shape, and removed the contents. Sadly, and typically of the time, there was no systematic analysis and recording. Farrer discovered a number of runic inscriptions inside the tomb and this work has images of them with translations. The binding has a gilt design (copied from the runic inscriptions in the Howe) to the front board and gilt titles to spine. Contents: colour printed frontispiece with tissue-guard; title page; contents list; preface; text with 5 plates - 2 double size and one colour printed; appendix; readings of the inscriptions with 7 further plates - 2 double size. The binding is clean with some dulling of the gilt to front board and spine. Some gilt is missing from the border to the front board. There are some paler areas on the back board. Corners have wear and there is wear to spine ends with some fraying and slight loss. There is a marked area on the front pastedown endpaper where it looks like a bookplate has been removed. Contents are clean but with toning to paper and foxing. There is offsetting from some plates to the opposing pages. We have found this on other copies so it is likely to be due to the quality of paper used. There is some repair to the front endpaper joint. Fair. Decorative cloth. (4757) £420.00

James Fergusson. A Short Essay on the Age and Uses of the Brochs and the Rude Stone Monuments of the Orkney Islands and the North of Scotland. London: William Mullan and Son, 1877. 1st Edition. Internally both endpapers are split at the joint, although the book is currently sound in the binding. There is a stain to the foredge but the contents are generally clean. Fair. Decorative cloth. (1679) £40.00
